What is nature??

What do we know by nature?? Is it something normal, like just assemblage of plants, animals and all kind of being in this world. Or something impregnable, like an energy stronger than all other energy, a most puissant force that controls every thing going on in this world. A energy that can surpass anything and everything, which makes us who we are, what we are today. We all are under it's dominance it tells us what to do when to do and no matter how hard we try nature decides when we are going to do what, it wont introduce us to the thing till you're ready to face it. It makes you endure and face things which might make you feel lost, devastated but if you overcome that phase nature would give you its best version of life, will show its true colors, to see the world in its purest and deepest forms. It is like a feeling mixed up all together; anger, frustration, rage, peace and most of it filled with love which makes us who we are, which gives us the vision to see the world.

Our bodies are entwined with the parts of nature. How do you feel when a soft breeze touches you, when a soothing sunlight kisses your skin? That one moment when we embrace everything at once, we connect with nature. That one moment we truly become a part of nature. Nature is our cure. It heals us when we are despondent and woebegone. It connects with us and give us a light of hope. It chants positivity for our well-being. It makes us feel endeared and adulated. Frank Lloyd Wright said "Study nature, stay close to nature. It will never fail you"

Us. We are the most indispensable part of nature. The most analytical and introspectively developed being. Amid our birth, we connect to the inescapable wit of nature. Which gives us the power to think, to walk, to learn. We altogether create the soul of nature. We are the connection between nature's unspoken words and the commutative world. We connect this fantasies with the reality of nature. Nature created us to know and learn its laws, its way of reasoning, feel it's importance and what message it tries to convey. We create a path to travel through the depths of nature. Nature wants us to understand its soul, that mightiness which controls this universe. Maybe that's when we'll come to know about the creation of this planet of this universe.

In this recherché world, we must gain a correspondence between soul, mind and body. Consensus between nature and this three is the key to procure a meaningful life. By maintaining this balance we not only find a meaning for life but also connect to the nature's wisdom. By this mechanism nature keeps us aware from something good or bad which might happen to us and we call it intuition.

Existence of God

God has a powerful ascendancy over humans. God existed for over thousands of years and around more than 85% of the world's population espoused the belief of its existence.

God is our power, our strength, our creator. It is a seraphic energy which can do anything and everything. It controls our fate and sow the seeds of our destiny. It makes us believe in things which is not even viable. It makes us trust in ourselves. It guide us through the dark abys of time and enlighten us with its knowledge. Then who and what is this God? Who do we worship? Who do we pray? Who guides us through our problems? In our dark times? Can it be seen or felt? It is us who we worship as god.

God lies within ourselves. We are this mighty energy. It is our stronger part. It is that part of ourselves which is stronger than us and more powerful than our imaginations. It is our inner-self which connects with the nature and guide us through out our lifetime. A part of ourselves which can control this whole world. We hold this much ability. So why can't we rule the world?? Who says we didn't very few of us did. Like Sri Chaitanya Dev and Gautam Buddha and Mahavir and Jesus and Muhammad and yes we call them God in our own religion. They are not incarnation of something almighty. They are that Almighty power. They could listen to the nature's instincts and respond to its call. They had increased mental ability and a power to control their subconscious. The forces of nature could not allow them to survive neither can it let them die. So their soul were amalgamated with natures soul. So they vanished into something eternal like nature which exist forever but cannot be touched or seen. Nature guided them towards eternity. They connected their soul to this consecrated soul of nature from the very beginning of their life.

This belief in our subconscious alias God helps us grow. Gives us faith. Teaches us the lessons of life. It brings us together under the same roof and makes us a part of this sacred entity. It connects all of us through our belief. It unites our souls into one.

What does this means??

We all are amalgamated to form this Universe. Our quintessence is this universe's élan vital. Our mind forms this universe's psyche. The carcass of our body forms this orb filled with agape. Ever part of our existence delineate something in this cosmic extramundane. This universe exist cause we do and will keep on existing as long as we do. This altruistic connection between us and the nature binds this perpetual complexion of Universe. This is the meaning of our existence.
